Name: Email PID:

Question   Suppose that a hash table has 100 slots, and that the hash function maps a certain key value K to the integer 9836821. What would be the index of the home slot of that key value?

The index of the home slot is obtained by modding the hash value by the table size: 21.